AT PISTOL PRACTICE

When Weapon Was Accidentally Discharged Shattering Flinger.

Clifton Adcock, a little son of Mr. W. E. Adcock, of Church Hill, happened to a very painful accident one day last week. He borrowed a pistol from a playmate, and went to the woods to practice shooting at a tree the weapon was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through one of his fingers of his left hand. The bone was shattered and it was at first thought that amputation would be necessary, but the injured member is doing nicely, and while the wound is a very painful one it is not considered dangerous.

BOY KILLED.

Winfield Floyd Crushed To Death in an Ore Washer.

Winfield Floyd, a 14-year-old son of Bob Floyd, was killed in the washer of the Cumberland River Estates, at Bear Springs, Tenn., Saturday afternoon. The boy was employed as a flint picker and going to near the main shaft had his coat caught in the wheel, making 35 revolutions a minute. The machine was stopped in a few seconds, but the boy was so badly crushed that he died three hours later. Launess H. Huggins is Superintendent of the plant, which works 125 hands.

QUEEN'S FUNERAL.

Greatest Cortege Ever Seen In The World.

More Ceremonies This Week Before The Body Is Finally Buried.

London, Feb. 2.—All London and thousands from the remotest villages of the kingdom paid their final homage to the queen today in her capital. Deep solemnity filled all hearts. Every one felt, however, that inevitable death had dealt kindly with their sovereign and that her passing had been as happy as her life had been useful. They gathered to honor her memory rather than to mourn her loss. All business ceased, even the drinking houses closed their doors during the day. The newspapers suspended publication and life in London, like the rest of the empire, turned from its customary channels and forced its way upon the three miles of West End Streets where the coffin containing the body passed on its way to Windsor. To an American the ceremonies, with all the theatrical trappings of royalty, were not more impressive than a funeral of a chief magistrate chosen by the people. Kings and princes beneath silver helmets and wearing gold braided coats were but men, but a king riding after the coffin of his mother and queen, with four other kings and half a hundred of the highest royalties of European dynasties following, and the hereditary quaint attaches of the court, was a sight never to be forgotten.

Popular mourning was less general and obsequies than it would have been in the United States. The multitudes were remarkably orderly. The whole ceremonial including the massing of 30,000 troops and an entertainment of all the visiting personages, showed an admirable organization.

Tonight the king's party to return to their homes. The city has somewhat of a holiday air. Thousands of persons are parading the streets, viewing the decorations and the restaurants and saloons are doing a tremendous business. The hospitals cared for 1,300 persons who were injured in the coronation. Of this number only sixty were seriously hurt, including several policemen and soldiers, and a number of women suffering from broken limbs.

Tonight the queen's body lies in Albert chapel, at Windsor, guarded, awaiting the last rites. The castle brilliantly lighted. King Edward and Queen Alexandra, Emperor William and the princes and their suites dined magnificently this evening. Three angels and beads of principalities with their special representatives left Windsor this evening after looking at the coffin.

At Windsor the only hitch in the elaborate program of the day occurred. It was the utter intractability of the horses attached to the royal carriage bearing the coffin, to the alarm and chagrin of the king and emperor, who hurried up to ascertain the cause of the delay in the procession leaving Windsor.

The horses struggled in the traces and the coffin was almost thrown from the gun carriage.

Lord Roberts asked the king for permission to take out the horses and substitute for them the jacksies who had come up from Portsmouth as a guard of honor. This suggestion was quickly sanctioned and the last time Victoria's body was borne before her subjects it was by her own carriage.

The body will lie until Monday in the Albert Memorial chapel.

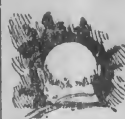

Was Aged 72 Years And A Prominent Citizen.

Esq. Thomas Martin, for several terms a Justice of the Peace for the county, died in the Asylum Sunday morning, aged 72 years. Esq. Martin was one of the best known and most popular citizens of the county and had lived near Renshaw's store, in North Christian, nearly all of his life. About six months ago his mind gave way and he was placed in the asylum for treatment. His condition grew steadily worse until death came. He leaves a widow and five children. The remains were interred in the Hamby burying ground near Larkin, yesterday.

BALDHEADED CLUB.

President Prostrated Over Mortality Among The Great.

Probable Victim From Mrs. Nation Causes Excitement And Discussion.

Bill Cooper was unable to be present.

His physician, Dr. Board, V. S., appeared on behalf of his patient and explained his absence.

Ever since Queen Victoria died ten days ago, the Doctor said, President Cooper has seemed depressed and haunted with a fear that the beginning of the century would be marked by a fearful mortality among distinguished people. Night on the heels of the Queen's death came the announcements in quick succession that President McKinley was afflicted with Bright's disease, that Oom Paul Kruger was very bad off, that Li Hung Chang was rapidly failing and that Count Tolstoi had suffered a relapse that would undoubtedly prove fatal. Every time he heard a piece of news of this kind, about the afflictions of the great, he suffered a physical and mental collapse. On Friday came the news that Field Marshal Count Gorko was dead and this followed by the funeral of Queen Victoria on Saturday had completely prostrated the distinguished President, and his condition was such that for several days he would not be able to eat more than three square meals a day.

He had therefore taken the liberty to advise the Club of his condition and to prepare the members for any further bad news he might have to bring them concerning his patient.

Vice President Bob Woodruff thereupon assumed the chair and soon had things going his way.

The application of Major Woodruff, not acted upon at the last meeting, was called up and put to a vote. The opposition to Mr. Woodruff did not manifest itself this time and he was duly elected, with only three or four blackballs against him and these did not attract the attention of the Vice President.

The new member was accordingly brought in and given the several degrees. Some confusion came up when the title of Colonel was conferred upon him. Col. Henry Barneth said it would sound awkward to call him Colonel Major Woodruff. It was agreed however that the confusion could be obviated by calling him Col. T. M. Woodruff.

Col. Sam Buckner arose and said he noticed in the Fairview Review that the Indians out West were on the warpath and as Col. A. Cosby was out there, somewhere, he had serious fears for his safety.

Vice President Woodruff said Col. Cosby was in no danger of losing his scalp. An Indian would score to take a scalp without hair on it. It would be like the play of Ham Lett with Ham's left. Besides, Col. Cosby was not a tenderfoot who would stand idly by and see his head peeled. Col. Buckner agreed that on second thought, he didn't believe he would.

Col. H. W. Tibbs said he understood Mrs. Nation, the Kansas "Fussader," had an uncle in Hopkinsville, and thought it likely she might be induced to come here on a visit. He therefore moved that a mind reader be employed to determine what Col. Lem McKee, Byron West, Crit Anderson and Charlie Brackridge thought of the idea of extending her an invitation to come and bring along her hatchet.

Col. McKee said it was not necessary in his case to employ a

They will return to Bear Springs about the 18th inst.

CAPT. THOMAS.

New Commander of Co. D. Elected Thursday Night.

The resignation of Capt. C. H. Tandy, of Co. D., tendered some weeks ago, was accepted by the Governor last week and an election was held Thursday evening at the armory to fill the vacancy. The election took the form of a promotion for the two lieutenants. First Lieutenant Hiram P. Thomas was elected Captain and Second Lieutenant Geo. W. Phelps was promoted to First Lieutenant. The vacancy caused by Lieut. Phelps' promotion has not yet been filled. There are five candidates: Robt. Bellamy, Clifton Long, Trabue Anderson, Perry Newman and Chas. Brumfield.

Capt. Thomas, the new ranking officer, is a thorough soldier, who saw active service in the volunteer army in Cuba in 1898. He will make a good officer. Capt. Tandy, who resigned as captain, had held the position for several years and the increasing demands of his profession made it necessary for him to resign.

DID HE SEE IT?

That's The Question For The Groundhog to Answer.

Those who watched closely say that for a period of a few minutes about 10 o'clock last Saturday the groundhog had a chance to see his shadow. There was only a brief break in the clouds and soon afterwards it began to snow and the rain continued pretty much all day. It is still a disputed question as to whether or not the groundhog was out in time to see his shadow before soon. It is contended by some that he does not come out until noon. If this be true, he did not see his shadow and winter is over.

The Life of VICTORIA

Personal and Political, Private and Public.

"She nothing common did, or mean,
Upon that memorable scene."

Biography of King Edward VII.

THE biography of Queen Victoria written in full, would mean the history of the British empire for the last 60 years, and by its ramifications the history of the affairs of the world. The span of her reign has measured progress in material affairs beyond the most extravagant prophecies of her childhood, the most noteworthy achievements in every department of science, philosophy and industry, and a reinforcement of political and commercial relations among the nations of surprising sweep. So conspicuous has been the part played by the English and her noteworthy merits in the influence of the queen that the phrase "Victorian era" has been accepted by the world as a just and ample characterization of the period included in her reign.

Heir of the Queen.
When Victoria was born, at Kensington palace, May 24, 1819, she was considered by no means an important baby as royal children went. Indeed, it was only by tardy courtesy that the duchess of Kent, hurried from the continent to England in order that her child might be born on British soil, was given apartments in Kensington palace, where the future queen first saw the light. Victoria's father, the duke of Kent, was the fourth son of George III, who was still alive. Her mother was the Princess Victoria Mary Louisa of Saxe-Coburg-Saalfeld, who was the widow of the hereditary prince of Saxe-Coburg when she married the English duke. The duke of Kent died a few months after the birth of his daughter and the little girl was brought up under the care of her mother and educated under the direction of the duchess of Northumberland.

Heir to the Throne.
It was to be the throne on the death of William IV, third son of George III, June 29, 1837, when the crowns of England and Hanover, which had been worn by the same person since the accession of George I, in 1714, were separated, the former devolving upon the young princess and the latter, by virtue of the Salic law, falling to the duke of Cumberland, the late king's younger brother. She was crowned in Westminster Abbey June 28, 1838. Some interest was taken in the fact that from the first the queen subscribed herself simply Victoria and not, as had been expected, Alexandrina Victoria. The duke of Kent had given his daughter the name Alexandrina in compliment to the young emperor of Russia, but it was considered very wise on the part of the young sovereign to employ simply the name of Victoria, "around which no ungenial associations of any kind hung at that time and which can have only grateful associations in the history of this country [England] for the future."

Develops Capacity Early.
With the death of William IV, the reign of personal government ended in England. When Victoria came to the throne the whig ministry of Lord Melbourne, for whom she had the strongest regard, was in power. The duke of Wellington was of the opinion that the world would never have any chance with a young woman for a sovereign, but before many years passed it was apparent that a woman could be capable of as sound a constitutional policy and could show as little regard for personal predilections in the business of government as any man.

A Reign of Achievement.
The early years of Victoria's reign were full of interest and excitement. There were the rebellions in Canada, the Anti-Slavery League, the anti-slavery agitation, the insidious question, the never-ending Irish question, the Afghan war and the war with China. Along with these events came the introduction of many great discoveries in science, industry and commerce which are now considered specially representative of modern civilization.

Till with Sir Robert Peel.
About the only serious clash that Victoria ever had with her various ministers occurred in 1839, when Sir Robert Peel tried to dictate to her in the matter of selecting the ladies of her bedchamber. Sir Robert was actuated by purely political motives, but his manner of presenting them to the young queen showed her deeply and she refused to consent to a course which she considered to be contrary to usage and was repugnant to her feeling. This question led to a return of the whig government to power. There was a real settlement of mind in the queen when she came to the throne. It was not until the accession of Sir Robert Peel that she began to feel the sovereign of spirits. "Who would not let her believe it?"

Married to Prince Albert.
February 10, 1840, Queen Victoria was married to her cousin, Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. This was a very much, pure and simple, and the young sovereign, owing to her position, had to conduct the negotiations mainly by herself. During the previous month she had solemnly notified parliament of her intention to marry her cousin—a step which she trusted would be "conducive to the interests of my people as well as my own comfort and happiness."

The announcement was not received with universal satisfaction, but a cordial reception was accorded Prince Albert. Princess Helena, born 1846; married 1869 to Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein. They had five children, all unmarried.
Princess Louise, born 1848; married in 1871 the marquis of Lorne, the only one of the children marrying outside of royalty. They have no children.
Princess Arthur, duke of Connaught, born 1850; married 1879 to Princess Louise of Prussia, daughter of Frederick Charles, the famous redoubt. Three children have come to this union.
Princess Leopold, duke of Albany, born 1853, having received the title by proclamation on April 28, 1870.

She outlined all the members of the house of lords who were peers of the realm at the time of her accession, except Earl Nelson, and all the peers who were taken or had been members of the house of commons.
She survived all the members of her original privy council and of her first house of commons, Mr. Gladstone being one of the oldest former members of the latter.
She saw every Episcopal see vacated and refilled at least twice during her reign.
She saw her Jewish bench recruited twice at least, from end to end. She was a widow for 40 years. She saw five archbishops of Canterbury.

Gifts with Her People.
It has been a grief to the queen that the last years of her reign should be marked by wars in which her soldiers have suffered severely, even while displaying their most striking bravery. She wept over the losses of her soldiers in South Africa and the grief of those whose families suffered personal loss.
In common sympathy no less than in quickness of heart, she has shown interest in national joys, Victoria has been her people's queen.

THE ROYAL FAMILY.
Heir of the Union of Victoria and Prince Albert.

From the union of Victoria of England with Albert of Saxe-Coburg in 1840 have sprung five children, 10 grandchildren, and 35 great-grandchildren. Death has removed 11 of these—two sons and one daughter, one grandchild and seven grandsons. Marriage brought her majesty nine daughters and sons-in-law. Three of the latter have died, while 15 of the 14 grandsons and granddaughters-in-law survive. Among her grandsons and grandsons-in-law are reigning emperors, an emperor, and a grand duke. Her great-grandchildren are emperors, empress dowagers, German and her descendants in the line wear the crowns of Great Britain, Greece and Romania.
The children of the queen, names and date of birth are:
Princess Victoria, "Princess Royal," now empress dowager of Germany, born

November 21, 1840; married January 18, 1858, Frederick William, then crown prince of Prussia, who died in 1888, as Emperor William II of Germany, after a reign of only 30 days. Her son is now emperor, and he had six sons and one daughter. The empress dowager has had four sons and 19 grandchildren.

Albert Edward, prince of Wales, who now becomes regent, born November 9, 1864; married March 10, 1893, Princess Alexandra of Denmark. He has had three sons and three daughters and has three grandchildren. His eldest son died in 1902, and his second son, the duke of York, married Princess Mary of Teck and has two children.
Princess Alice, born April 25, 1843; married 1862 to Prince Frederick of Hesse, died December 14, 1892. She had two sons and five daughters, of whom the youngest living is married to the czar of Russia. There are six grandchildren in this family.

PON POINTERS.

Paragraphs Prepared for the Many Kentuckian Readers.

Pon, Ky., Jan. 28.—The farmers have been busy burning plant land for the past few weeks. They have sold nearly all of their tobacco leaves. Mr. L. B. King has bought nearly all of the weed in this section.

Owing to the favorable fall and winter the farmers have followed more corn land than was ever known in this section.

Mr. Charlie Dukes and family, of Fruit Hill, have moved to the old Ford farm on the Greenville road near here.

Rev. B. F. Hyde filled the pulpit at New Barron Spring today.

The grip is raging in our neighborhood.

E. M. Barnes has been suffering for the past three weeks with the grip. M. D. Hord and B. W. Fields and sister are suffering in like manner.

Mrs. Melissa Marquess and boys and son-in-law, Mr. Charlie Wells, have moved to S. H. Myers' Cedar Valley farm to follow the pursuit of farming.

Miss Effie Wood, of Cerulean Springs, is teaching a flourishing subscription school at Dogwood. She has thirty-one pupils enrolled. The grip made its advent into her school last week and several of the pupils had to remain at home on that account.

Mr. A. C. King and wife have moved to his farm on the Greenville road.

We are all sorry to hear that Dr. Williams, of Fruit Hill, our good doctor, is going to move to your city to practice physic. He says he has nothing against the neighborhood. He is getting old and can't make the necessary visits that he would have to make to see his patients. This would be a good location for a good M. D.

FROM "FRUIT HILL."

Numerous Items Pertaining To People in East Christian.

Fruit Hill, Ky., Jan. 29.—Hanson Smith paid his parents a visit last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. T. C. Lanier visited his daughter, Mrs. W. E. West, last week.

After a week's visit to friends and relatives at Laytonville Miss Maud West has returned home, and we are sorry to say she is suffering from sore throat.

Dr. S. H. Williams, of Crofton, was among us last Sunday evening, attending the bedside of his patients.

Mrs. Vi Smith and sister, Mrs. McCord, visited relatives at Kirkmansville last week.

Harrison Word's little baby is suffering from a rising on its neck.

Oh, no! Honey Bee, I have not gone in for the winter—Neither do I expect to, while things are so very gay around me.

SUCCESS TO THE KENTUCKIAN.

KILLED BY MULE.

Prominent Farmer of Calloway County Famed to Death While Breaking a Mule.

Murray, Ky., Jan. 28.—Carroll Rogers, a prominent farmer of the Edgell neighborhood, this county, was killed by a mule rearing back and pawing him in the head.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Rogers' son was "breaking" the animal when the mule became unmanageable and the father hastened to his assistance.

tance. When he reached them the mule, which had "sulked," arose and pawed Mr. Rogers with such force that he died last night.

Mr. Rogers was a highly respected citizen and was a prominent figure in county affairs.

FACE FILLED

With Shot But Victim Not Fatally Hurt.

Kennedy, Ky., Jan. 28.—This morning Hunter Wisdom shot and seriously wounded Gus Allen. Both are colored and were at work on Tom Prince's farm, near this place. They engaged in a row early in the morning. Wisdom was sent to the house by Prince for something and when he returned he also brought back a shot gun. He approached Allen and fired. Thirty-five shot entered Allen's face, one of them passing through his windpipe. Wisdom was arrested. Allen was not fatally hurt. All of the shot were picked out of his flesh.

FINED $1,000.

Contractor Who Tried to Bribe the Governor of Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 29.—In the circuit court here today Contractor Gideon Oldendiana, on trial for an alleged attempt to bribe Gov. Longino in the matter of the capital contracts, withdrew his plea of not guilty made yesterday, and entered a plea of guilty. By agreement with the prosecution he accepted a fine of $1,000 and costs, and the court set aside the forfeiture of the $5,000 bond.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY
REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the most important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for energetic effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews," and send to us by agent's terms, sample copies, and working outfit. Then solicit their subscriptions. It is a commendable to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, naming your references.

WRECK OF THE MAINE.

Contract for Removal to be Awarded This Week.

Bids for raising the wreck of the United States battleship Maine were opened at Havana Saturday. There were twelve bidders, whose offers ranged from $867,000, to the proposal of Chamberlain & Co., of Chicago, to remove the wreck for nothing and to give the Government 3 per cent. on the sales of the material in the form of souvenirs. One contractor proposed to raise the wreck with a balloon. The contract will be let this week.

COMPANY CARRIES

Big Band—So Look out for Noon Parade.

On the occasion of the "Uncle Josh Spruce" company at Opera House here Feb. 9, matinee and night, a big street parade will be given at noon, and the press agent, Heckman, promises this will be something new and unique. The company carries a big band dressed in the garb of the rustic. During the parade the band gives splendid concert which attracts much attention and generally attracts a crowd that reminds you of a Barnum & Bailey circus day.

DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL.

Presbyterian Ladies Fluke $75 for Their Organ Fund.

The musical given Friday night at the Ninth Street Presbyterian church was a distinct success and about $75 was cleared up, which amount will be applied to the organ fund. The program follows:

1. Male Quartet, Messrs. Kelly, Long, Starting and Littlehales.
2. Legedde, Bohm, Miss lone Metz.
3. Solo, Mr. Oliver Littlehales.
4. The Christmas Star, Miss Jessie C. York.
5. Sing, Smile, Slumber, Miss Grunshaw. Violin Obligato, Miss Metz.
6. The Bridal Chorus, double trio—Messdames Feland, Richards, McPherson and Brownell and Messrs Grunshaw and Harrison—from Treble Clef Club.
7. How The Rue Stakes were lost, Miss York.
8. Where Love Abides, Miss Metz.
9. In The Tolls of the Enemy, Miss Metz.
10. Solo, Mrs. J. P. H. Allan.
11. Mazurka, Miss Metz.

Miss Metz, whose singing was the source of so much pleasure to the audience, is a daughter of Mr. A. Metz, formerly of this city, now of Nashville.

Miss York, the elocutionist who contributed to the entertainment, is also from Nashville.

ORGANIZED IN 1845.

One of Oldest Old Line Insurance Companies.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark, N. J., which appears in this issue. This is one of the oldest of the old line life insurance companies, organized in 1845, and there are no stockholders. The policies are divided among policy holders.

It is conspicuous for economical management, liberality of its policy contract, fair-dealing with its members and large returns to policy-holders in proportion to payments by them. After the second year policies are incontestable and non-forfeitable. Wallace & Moore are the local agents-office over First National Bank.

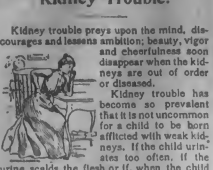

Scribner's Magazine for February begins a new series of reminiscences of theatrical life—a form of article in which it has been peculiarly fortunate in the past, having published the recollections of Leater Wallace and Mrs. John Drew. The stage Reminiscences of Mrs. Gilbert, which are here begun, are full of vivacity, incident, and entertaining recollections of great actors of the past half century. Mrs. Gilbert is eighty years of age and has been on the stage for more than seventy years of that time beginning as a dancer when a mere child at Drury Lane. This installment first gives some recollections of her childhood and then the narrative moves to America where Mrs. Gilbert and her husband emigrated in 1849. Her recollections of her experiences in Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis, and other western cities are very amusing and give a vivid idea of the old stock companies of half a century ago. It is remarkable that when Mrs. Gilbert first appeared in New York she came as a "western" actress from Cincinnati. These reminiscences, which will run through three numbers of the Magazine, are exact transcripts of the conversations with her friend Mrs. Charlotte M. Martin, who has been a most sympathetic editor. The abundant illustrations have been selected from the wonderful collection of Evert Janssen Wendell, and also from Mrs. Gilbert's own souvenirs.

Five Chinese Girls Sold.

San Francisco Cal., Jan. 20.—Five Chinese slave girls were sold at public auction in San Francisco yesterday as publicly as though they had been in Canton, where such human slavery is a recognized institution. These girls were the property of Gong Cow, an old Chinese who has kept for years one of the dens in Chinatown. He wanted to go back to China, so he advertised the furniture and chattels of his establishment at auction. According to Chinese custom, creditors of Gong appeared and posted bills on the door of the place, specifying the claims. Every Chinese who bid at auction agreed to pay the claims against the girl he fancied. The girls sold at from $1700 to $2500 each, and they were removed at once to the quarters of their new owners.

Old age commands respect—except in poetry and jokes.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose. Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Koot is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet. Some of those who tell about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

ALUMNI CLUB

Of the Public High School To Meet Today.

GUS SUN'S MINSTRELS.

Pleasing Entertainment Before Large Audience in Academy of Music.

The Blue Ridge Zephyr, in commenting on the entertainment given recently in the Opera House at Waynesboro, Pa., by Gus Sun's Minstrels, says:

The academy of music was crowded last night with those anxious to hear Gus Sun and his aggregation of minstrels. The visit of this organization always attracts large crowds. The show was good, abounding in new features, and the jokes were as usual first hand.

In the opening the American Quintette furnished a number of vocal selections. In chorus and solo, the singers won rounds of applause. E. W. Chipman, the interlocutor, who is called the "autocrat of minstrelsy," displayed his wonderful bass voice in his rendition of "The Sentinel Awakes." Henry J. Yorky furnished lots of fun by his new crop of funny songs and sayings.

The second part specialties were of a high order. Nugent Bros., in their bell ringing act, and Gus Sun in balancing and juggling were equally equal by John Lynch, in tight wire performances. Lynch is called "king of the wire" and he held the title. His chief act was standing on his hands on the wire.

All in all, the entertainment was one of the best in the minstrel line that has ever been presented in Waynesboro.

This grand aggregation of minstrelsy will hold the boards at Holland's Opera House Wednesday night Feb. 13.

NEW TERM OPENS

Of The School of Osteopathy at Franklin, Ky.

(From our Special Correspondent)
Franklin, Ky., Feb. 4th, 1901.
Editor Kentuckian:
To-day opens the new term of the Southern School of Osteopathy. A fine class of men and women is gathering from many states. Students will be arriving for some time as they can enter for thirty days after to day and many will take advantage of this opportunity who have not as yet made their arrangements to enter.

The tuition for twenty months is but $300, for those entering in this term, while heretofore it will be $400.
This material advance causes many to rush their arrangements and take advantage of the low tuition.
Then the earlier one enters,
the earlier he will be able to graduate and begin remunerative practice.

The institution was never so well equipped and so well manned as at the present time. It would be hard to find a more scholarly body of men and women than compose the faculty of this institution. It speaks well for the future of the science when such men and women are to be found in the Osteopathic Schools.

The Southern School of Osteopathy has been exceedingly fortunate in obtaining teachers for the several departments of exceptional ability that it is superior in faculty to other Osteopathic Schools. Every effort has been made to obtain the very best talent and the efforts have been very successful.

Osteopathy is safe in the hands of such exponents, and the Student is wise in placing his professional preparation in their hands.
Osteopathy is an ideal profession from many standpoints and it will pay those who think of studying, to visit this institution and see something of the enthusiasm of our students and obtain information as to the success of our graduates.

In the number of counsellors there is safety. This is especially true in the case of the afflicted and it is certainly the part of wisdom to place any critical case, or any accused case, in the hands of thestiff of qualified men and women who practice in the infirmary department.

What does Osteopathy treat?
Every disease that is curable and many considered by the medical profession incurable. While Osteopathy has been wonderfully successful in cases of typhoid fever and other acute troubles it is largely the chronic cases that come from disease that take Osteopathic treatment.
Out of the scores of cases of fever
that the physicians of the infirmary have handled, there has not a single case been lost which called the Osteopaths in the beginning, and out of a large number of cases which have been taken after the medical men have surrendered them as hopeless,
there have been but two deaths.
This record is but an indication of the success of Osteopathy in every other line.

To whom can you refer us?
To every minister, merchant,
teacher and professional man—barring only a few medical men—in the country. We practice in many of their families, we are their family physicians. But do not make a mistake—we are not Christian Scientists, magnetic healers, etc.,
for such have only temporary existence, and are not recognized by law in any country. Osteopathy is twenty-five years old. Five years has this institution been established. Eight states have laws recognizing and protecting Osteopathy. Sixteen state legislatures have favorably considered Osteopathy. Our graduates can practice in every state. The pulpit, the press, the statesman, the author and the judges have testified for Osteopathy. The Ladies Home Journal says:
"Osteopathy is all right if the Osteopathist is all right. Don't you want to know more about it?"

HOME-MADE CYCLOPEDIA.

A Clipping Collection Makes a Complete
Library and Costs Nothing

"How did you become so well informed?" one woman asked another, with a little touch of justified envy
in her tone, says the Louisville Journal-Journal. "You are a very busy housekeeper, with children to look after. You don't attend clubs, yet you seem to know about every man, woman or book of the day. I wish you would tell me the secret."

"Whatever information I have, my dear," was the answer, "has been gained through clipping collection. I borrowed the scheme from the New York newspapers. Five years ago a friend of mine who worked on one of them told me how, in their offices, whole rooms were devoted to clippings from various magazines and papers, systematically catalogued and used for reference.

"The idea appealed to me as an excellent one for the private individual,
especially for a woman like myself,
who cannot afford to buy many books.

"We take two good newspapers, one which my husband prefers and one which is my choice. From time to time, when I am at leisure and perhaps too tired to do much exacting work, I clip these papers and sort the clippings, according to subject, into manila envelopes.

"I have found this method of clippings far superior to the library. It has grown to an amount of material impossible for me to refer to, and I would to any other method. I find one at command. If I have a famous personage whose history has inspired my interest, I take the moment to consult my clippings and read about him. I find him in the work. It is the same with history or science, upon which I become curious. The chances are that I shall find an account of the point I am interested in the envelopes.

"It isn't by any means necessary to read all one clips. Clip an article if the subject interests you. It is only interest. Tuck it away for future reference."

"And you clip papers only, no magazines?"

"Oh, yes, I clip magazines which I have bought for one article or story that contains what I do not care to read. All pamphlets that are sent to the house, unless they are devoted to advertising, I catalogue also. Pictures, too, if they are clear and seemingly faithful, with photographs on any interesting subject.

"Simple as it is, a private library of this kind avoids that one supreme fault of the public one—dirty books, with the possibility of lurking disease germs.

"Beside the pleasure and the general information I have had some very practical help from the clippings. I have one envelope filled with good cooking receipts at different times. Another contains many new "wrinkles" in household science. Of course, one has to use judgment in selecting these, but with care it becomes a wonderful help."

THE WAY TO BE POPULAR.

One Who Is Kind Preferred to One Who Is Only Clever.

The depreciation of kindness in private life, which is one of the features of our day, is very largely due to the fashion of intellectualism; and yet human nature below the surface of crazes and phrases remains the same, and his fellows still judge a man by his heart rather than by his head. When the jury is selected, not from a coterie, but from the market place, says Ian Maclaren in this Christian Endeavor World, the person who is kind will ever be preferred to the person who is clever; and "thoughtful," to use a creak word of our day, is still less than warm-hearted. Walter Scott and Dickens will ever have a larger hold upon the people than Hardy and Meredith, not because their art is finer, but because their spirit is kinder. An affectionately kind is more welcome than those numbers of modern precocity who furnish their foolish parents with sayings for quotation, and who have won out all healthy sensations at the age of ten. The girl who is honest, unselfish, considerate, good-natured, still receives the prize of respect and of love. No young man is better liked than he who has a genuine interest in the aged and in little children, in poor lads and in weak people.

The Girl Who Is Popular.

A girl should never envy another girl who is more popular with young men; all she gets out of it is more scolding from her father because of the gas bills—Atchison Globe.

LIFE SENTENCE

For Gibson, The Fendish Child Murderer.

Cadottsburg, Ky., Feb. 1.—The jury in the Gibson case returned a verdict at 1:55 p. m. finding him guilty and fixing his punishment at life confinement in the penitentiary. Gibson was accused of murdering his infant stepdaughter. The evidence showed that he tortured the child by burning it with a red-hot poker. He finally broke the little child's neck and fled to the hills. He was finally captured and taken to Mayville to escape a mob.

When the jury returned with the verdict, the court house was packed. Fully two-thirds of them expected a death penalty and they were very much disappointed in the outcome of the trial.

CASE DISMISSED.

Warrant Charged Defendant With Having Deserted His Children.

Jake Caldwell, col., formerly of this county, was arrested at Paducah, where he has been making his home for three or four years, on a warrant sworn out here by his wife, charging him with having deserted his children. Caldwell claimed his wife deserted him in Paducah and brought her children to this city. About a year ago he says the children were sent back to him and he had since provided for them, but being unable to do so longer, he returned them to his wife who then swore out the warrant. When presented in the police court Saturday the charge against him was dismissed.

CIRCUIT COURT

Began Yesterday at the County Seat of Trigg.

The February term of the Trigg Circuit Court began at Cadiz yesterday and the session will last four weeks. The docket is a pretty heavy one. The largely advertised damage suit of Bob Merrick against Dr. Wade Jefferson and others is set for the seventh day of the term and much evidence of a sensational character is predicted to come of it. There are about 34 cases on the docket.

"UNCLE JOSH SPRUCEBY."

Matinee and Night at Opera House Feb. 9.

An intense heart story is unfolded in the charming drama "Uncle Josh Spruceby" which comes to the Opera House for Saturday evening and night, Feb. 9. The plot of the play is taken from every day life. A country maid who has been to a boarding school education meets the tempter in the guise of a polished city chap, who turns out later to be a confidence man and who persuades the girl that the comfortable, if humble, Vermont home is too dull for her. She is induced to go to the city "Uncle Josh" goes to the city to search for his lost "Nancy" and meets many adventures there. The comedy is furnished by Hans Von Botelmeyer, the "just over Dutchman" and "Sally Sally Spruceby" who has done us for city folk. The plot is well staged and acted by a company of capable people.

BECAME NAUSEATED

And The Child Expired in a Very Few Minutes.

The four months old child of Profit Givens, col., died suddenly in the city Sunday. The child had been in good health, apparently, until Sunday morning when it was taken with nausea and expired in a few minutes.

Moved To Georgia.

Prof. R. T. Steinhagen and family, consisting of Mrs. Steinhagen and Mr. O. F. Steinhagen, left last week for Atlanta, Ga., to make their future home. Prof. Steinhagen is an accomplished musician who has taught in the colleges here for the last twenty years. He has many friends who very much regret the departure of his family from the city.

A Cup of Good Coffee

To get a really good cup of coffee you'll have to start back of the actual making; you'll have to look to the roasting and the grinding. In ARBUCKLES' you have a coffee that's scientifically roasted, and delivered to you with all the pores of the berry hermetically sealed. You're sure of a good cup of coffee because all the coffee flavor and aroma are kept intact until you want it. The fame of ARBUCKLES' induced other coffee packers to put out imitations of it. These imitations cost the grocer (and you) a cent a pound less than ARBUCKLES'. But don't be tempted to buy a package of some other coffee when you can get for it is actually less expensive than the cheap kind; goes further—besides being better flavored, more satisfying.

Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee

You will find a list of useful articles in each package of Arbuckles' Coffee. A definite part of one of these articles becomes yours when you buy the coffee. The one you select from the list will be sent you on condition that you send to our Notion Department a certain number of signatures out from the wrapper.
